

Basic Auto Classes

Learn how to properly maintain an automobile

Keeping a car in good running condition is not just for the pros. The MWR Auto Hobby Shop is offering a Basic Automobile Maintenance Course for spouses and high school students. For spouses, the course will be held on Saturday, July 15; register by Friday, July 7 and for high school students on Saturday, August 12; register by Friday, August 4. This course will teach you how to properly check your coolant, battery, tires, belts, fluids for the transmission, power steering, brake and window washer, proper levels and information about engine oils, all about air filters, and instructions on how to properly do an oil and oil filter change. The course is just $5 and will be from 10 a.m. - 12 p.m. on each scheduled day. All participants will receive an MWR Automobile Preventive Maintenance Book. Sign-ups are being taken at the MWR Auto Hobby Shop (located behind the NEX Four Seasons store). For more information on this course or for other services and courses available at the shop, call 252-2934.
